PRESIDENT WANTS RAILROADS TO MAKE OWN CONSOLIDATION

He Initiates a Drive In Congress to at Least Give Carriers Chance to Work Out Problem.

RESULTS ASSURED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Dec. 10.—In the hope of solving America's railroad problem, the Coolidge administration has inaugurated a drive in Congress for legislation permitting a voluntary consolidation of the Nation's rail systems.

President Coolidge himself took the initiative, it was learned today, in a series of conferences with congressional leaders. The president told the law makers in effect that there existed an urgent need for congressional action in the matter. He was assured of hearty cooperation in the enactment of a bill giving the railroads at least a period in which to voluntarily merge.

As a further step toward railroad peace, Administration leaders have met with representatives of organized labor in an effort to compromise the employes' differences. The conferences, it was said, resulted in an agreement to completely revive the railroad labor board's powers and to create a new tribunal, armed with authority to render compulsory decisions in disputes where a strike was threatened.

There will be no attempt made, however, to legislate on railroad freight rates. The administration decided to await a final valuation of the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission before tinkering with the rate structure. A concession though may be made to agriculture by declaring it a basic industry entitled to preferential rates. This would not affect the system of levying rates.

The consolidated bill will be given preference and an effort made to enact it at the present session of Congress. It will be proffered by Senator Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, who has already conferred with the President.

"I believe an agreement will be reached to enact a voluntary consolidation bill at the present session," said Cummins today. "There is a general feeling in the Administration that there must be mergers of the weak and strong roads if private ownership is to continue. The President feels there should be legislation on this subject before we adjourn."

A RECORD SPIKE

E. L. Rupert and his daughter Gertrude landed a fine spike buck on the mountain near the State House on Dec. 4th at 8 a. m. Mr. Rearick reports it being the largest spike [illegible] in that region since he has been game keeper. Its horns measure 12½ inches.

Despite reports to the contrary John Heydler will be re-elected to head the National League at the coming winter meeting. Insurgents have threatened to scalp the baseball chief since early spring, but the movement has gained no headway. It is said to have had its origin in Pittsburg.

Britain Protests Right Of U. S. To Take Out War Damages In Reparations

Washington, Dec. 10 (INS.)—A note from Great Britain protesting against the right of the United States to collect war damages out of the reparations payments which Germany makes under the operations of the Dawes plan was received by the State Department today.

Beyond admitting that the note has been received, and that it will be answered, the State Department declined to discuss the missive or to make it public.

12 ARE INDICTED BUT "BORAX" SHIPMENTS STILL GOING OUT

By DAVID SENTNER
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 10.—The liquor smuggling syndicate still was functioning today although 12 alleged members were under indictment in connection with the $50,000,000 rum running ring in northern New Jersey.

With the New York trade calling for liquor for the Christmas traffic, it became known this morning that a cargo of whiskey was landed last night at a desolate spot in North Bergen, not far from the scene of the operations leading to the present investigation.

The path which Prosecutor John Milton of Hudson county hoped would lead to the "higher ups" of the rum running corporation has been suddenly blocked.

Two of the nine indicted policemen intimated they were ready to "squeal," believing they were the "goats" for the safety of the rum running leaders, the prosecutor's office said. These men today refused to talk.

Information in the hands of the prosecutor points to New York City as the home office of the national bootlegging corporation in which the Weehawken waterfront played the part of "landing depot."

The guiding genius, according to widespread reports, is in the hands of a triumvirate—a Philadelphia politician, a San Francisco banker, and a New York theatrical man. A clerical headquarters is maintained in the West Thirties of New York City, it is said, where invoices are billed for "borax" delivered from a warehouse.

Following the charge of Supreme Court Justice James F. Minturn to the grand jury investigating bootlegging in which the justice said failure to subdue the rum runnin traffic would make martial law necessary along New Jersey waterfronts, Thomas Arrowsmith, assistant federal attorney of Newark, left for Washington to confer with Colonel William Donovan of the Department of Justice.

Further indictments in connection with the alleged rum running conspiracy are expected within 48 hours.

Young men of a dozen churches are making a survey of pre-prohibition saloons still operating in Jersey for Samuel Wilson, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, who stated he will present their findings to Colonel George T. Vickers, special prosecutor.

15 Year Old Boy Thought He Was Desperado; Was Surprised When Nobody Was Looking For Him

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 10 (INS.)—Grover George David, 15, of St. Louis, convinced that he was a desperate criminal and most earnestly sought after by all the police in the world, surrendered himself to Detroit police today.

"You aren't looking for me then?" said the lad thunderstruck because the police had to ask him to repeat his name and just what he had done.

David told police he once stole an automobile with which he collided with another machine. The boy gave his grandmother's address to the other driver. The owner of the wrecked car sued the grandmother.

"That scared me and I ran away," David said. "I am hungry now."

The boy was fed and taken to the juvenile home.

SEEK TO PREVENT SHOAL LEASING BY SECRETARY OF WAR

Senate Progressives and Handful of Democrats Stand Solidly Favoring Gover'ment Operation.

FIGHT IS ON TODAY

By KENNETH CLARK
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Dec. 10.—The heaviest artillery in the Senate progressives' arsenal was unlimbered today in a fight to strike out of the Underwood Bill that portion which would permit the Secretary of War to lease Muscle Shoals to private interests.

The new maneuver was backed by the Insurgents and a handful of Democrats, headed by Senator Smith Democrat of South Carolina.

As written, the Underwood measure gives the Secretary of War until September 1, 1925 to try to negotiate a lease for the Government's nitrate and power properties. Failing a federal corporation would be formed to operate the project. This provision is particularly obnoxious to those Senators who are supporting the Norris plan for government ownership.

Smith would substitute for the Underwood bill a measure requiring government operation of Muscle Shoals for a period of ten years to test its feasibility as a permanent scheme.

A somewhat similar proposal was advanced by Senator Howell, Republican of Nebraska who would, however, accept the Underwood bill after eliminating that provision authorizing a lease to private industry. Thus should the bill pass Congress, the Government would operate Muscle Shoals at once under the almost identical plan introduced by Senator Underwood, Democrat of Alabama and approved by President Coolidge and the war department.

While not entirely satisfactory, either the Smith or Howell amendments would be supported by the Progressive bloc, it was learned.

Another fan fare of debate on Muscle Shoals occupied the Senate today. Leaders, however, were hopeful of reaching an agreement to get a vote at least by tomorrow.

FORMER JUSTICE PITNEY PASSES AWAY

Washington, Dec. 9.—Supreme Court Justice Mahlon Pitney died today at his home in this city after a long illness.

When Justice Pitney was forced by two strokes of paralysis to go upon the retired list his physicians held out no hope of ultimate recovery. The inroads of the affliction were so gradual, however, that after his retirement he was able at times to move about and he was in fact conscious until the end came.

BEWARE OF FUNNY STORY TELLERS.

Berwick, Pa., Dec. 10. (INS.)—With only a slight clue to work on, police here today were searching for the friend of Samuel Balknin, 32, who "laughed" Samuel out of $3,019.

According to Balknin, his friend, known only as "John," agreed to help him count $3,020 drawn from the bank, to make sure the bank made no mistake. While counting "Jean" kept up a running series of funny stories, then tossed the bankroll on a table. After "John's" exit, Balknin discovered a roll of newspaper neatly wrapped in a $1 bill.

His Reward

Parley Sheldon, 81, of Ames, Ia., stopped smoking when he was a private in the Union Army during the Civil War. For 60 years he has saved 50 cents a day—cigar money—and with interest compounded annually at 6 per cent he has achieved a total savings of $54,577.

PEACE REIGNS AS BASEBALL MOGULS STIFLE COMMENTS

New York, Dec. 10 (INS.)—Prospects for the brawl which has been pleasantly anticipated in several quarters seemed slender today as American league magnates gathered here for their annual meeting.

Kenesaw M. Landis, Commissioner of baseball, who Ban Johnson, American League president has criticized will not be here for the joint meeting of the major leagues, if any be held. The joint meeting and fight probably will be postponed until next month in Chicago.

The American league, however may take a backhand slap at their leader, it was said, if Clark Griffith of Washington, proposes a resolution commending Landis.

Griffith and Johnson formerly were as intimate as ham and eggs.

There is a remote chance Johnson will be asked to resign. This is hardly likely, however.

Some baseball men were of the opinion that the American League will pay little more attention to Johnson's charges of crooked baseball than did the national league, which yesterday re-elected John A. Heydler president for four years with a raise in pay, approved Commissioner Landis and were silent on the topic of Johnson.

Johnson's accusations of skullduggery in the Pacific Coast League may be forwarded and may be taken under advisement before the American league adjournment. The coast leaguers are in the attitude of waiting for proof of assertions that gambling is rampant on the western slope.

W. P. I. A. L. DECISION COMMITTEE BOWLS OUT MANY CHAMPS

Braddock, Homestead, Jeanette and Latrobe Lose Out Through a Violation of Rules.

TWO YET IN RACE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 10. (INS.)—Elimination of all contenders except New Castle High School and Union High of Tuttle Creek football teams and a toss up as to which of the two will be selected at a later meeting as the Syracuse cup winner for this year was the result of a lengthy and intricate meeting of the decisions committee of the W. P. I. A. L., which did not end until early this morning.

The session which started early last night and was attended by J. M. McLaughlin, J. F. Bowers and J. Roy Jackson, the three committee members, considered protests from practically all of the close contenders for the cup. V. K. Irvine, president of the league, was present when the meeting started but left for his home in Butler near midnight.

The hope of Braddock High, rated as one of the strongest contenders for the cup, was doomed when the committee ruled all of its games be forfeited for using two ineligibles, Gusanovic and Jones. Gusanovic was said to be over 21 and Jones a non-resident of Braddock. Braddock defeated Turtle Creek school by a 9 to 0 score but the decision forfeits this and all other Braddock victories to the losing teams.

All protests against New Castle, including those of Principal Stump of the Jeannette High School, were overruled by the committee. Jeannette, the only team to defeat New Castle, was disqualified on charges of using players over 21 years of age.

The committee will hold a secret meeting this week to choose between New Castle and the Tuttle Creek school for the cup winner.

Homestead High School must pass over all its victories in the games in which Bill Keiger took part, because the committee has been convinced he lives at 513 Ninth street, Munhall. The Homestead school authorities admitted the truth of the accusation.

Latrobe, in the same fix as Homestead, sees all wins go to the opponents against whom Kelly, who is said to be over 21, played.

KID NORFOLK GETS ROUGH WITH TOMMY GIBBONS; GETS K. O.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor.)

New York, Dec. 10.—Willie Ward, alias Kid Norfolk, is popularly supposed to be a colored gentleman of some mental superiority, one who swings real estate deals by day and punches by night to the everlasting benefit of the bankroll. But the best of us make mistakes and the kid made his last night.

He landed possibly a dozen solid punches on Tom Gibbons in an abbreviated bout and five of them went beyond the foul line. That was a most reprehensible proceeding.

It transformed the calm, superior-courteous Gibbons into a merciless "killer" and the kid became the victim of a technical knockout after 11 seconds of fighting in the sixth round. For his own sake, I would like to see Gibbons hit low at least twice in every future fight, provided the punches inflicted no serious or lasting damage. It is well within the bounds of possibility that if opponents will oblige in this respect, Tom Gibbons may be the next heavyweight champion of the world.

The writer has known Gibbons, the gentleman, for some time and always felt that he lacked the "killer instinct" of which heavyweight champions are made. I saw a new Gibbons last night. It was Gibbons in a cold, savage rage and the sight was an inspiration. Some one will take Jack Dempsey one of these fine evenings and it is my bet that an enraged Gibbons has as good a chance as any. He never looked as good as he did last night. It was a great fight.

Only half of the honors went to the caucasian race, however. In the semi-final, Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, a black man who fights like an ape, scored a technical knockout over Johnny Wilson, ex-middleweight champion, in the third round. John thought the referee's action was a bit hasty, not to say premature, but hardly had the strength to lift his hands in registering the protest. It was John's first knockout. He had a punch like an ex-brewer Incidentally, it might be added that the Tiger is quite a pugilist.

Two knockdowns, with Norfolk the knockee, as it were, preceded the climax of the Gibbons affair. One came at the close of the fifth round from a right to the jaw, which deposited the kid in a neutral corner for a short count.

The bell saved him as he weaved to his feet. Gibbons tore into the Kid at the start of the sixth round and had him groggy in a few seconds with a right and left to the jaw. Norfolk covered desperately but Thomas stood over him calmly and selected his openings with deliberate care. Another right to the head brought the Kid's guard up and then a hard right to the body brought the Kid's body down. He remained, as was, for a count of six. Climbing painfully to his feet, he attempted to back away but only achieved a typical barroom pass out, landing on his shoulder blades on the other side of the ring. The referee then stopped it.

AUTO LEGISLATION PROBABLY BIGGEST OF 1924 PROBLEMS

All Manner and Kinds of Plans Suggested to Meet Requirements of Safety for People.

TRY EXPERIMENTS

By H. S. MORNINGWAKE
I. N. S. Correspondent.

Harrisburg, Dec. 10—Automobile legislation directly affecting nearly a million and one-half motorists in the State, is going to form no small part of the task of the 126th session of Pennsylvania Legislature which convenes here at noon of the first Tuesday in January.

Outstanding in importance are three bills, which it is understood, are certain to find their way before the next House and Senate. They are:

1. A bill to compel motorists to carry liability insurance.
2. A bill to enforce new safety laws.
3. A legislative act whereby part of the motor vehicle license fees would be returned to the cities throughout the State.

Of the bills upon which some definite action has already been taken, that to compel every motorist in the State to carry enough insurance to protect victims of accidents appears, at the present time, to be the most weighty.

But the proposition is far from being written in the statute books. Scores of arguments for and against the measure leave a decided doubt as to whether or not the bill will be able to storm the customary journey.

A commission appointed to draft its findings for presentation to the Legislature is now at work preparing a tentative program which several conferences and open meetings have convinced it is the pleasure of the voters.

Those favoring the measure advance an humanitarian and an economic argument, the latter based on common belief that a man is a fool who does not cover up his property by insurance—and fools need the threat of the law to make them see reason.

Overlapping, is the picture of an automobile victim maimed for life. The person responsible, portrayed as driver, is too poor to make it worth while to force compensation. This is argument enough, say those favoring it, for compulsary insurance.

Those opposed point to figures that show approximately only twenty per cent of the motorists now carry liability insurance. The remaining eighty per cent have a positive voice in expressing its rights.

Then too, an insured man is going to become more careless with the realization that "my company will pay the bills." So argue the "opposition" in concluding that thereby the purpose of compulsary insurance is defeated.

One of the new safety laws that is receiving much attention is framed after city ordinances along similar lines. This is to designate certain highways in the State as "main" thoroughfares for safety purposes, and to compel drivers to come to a dead stop if they are attempting to enter a "main" road from a side road.

Pittsburg is a notable example of a city with just such a law.

Scores of other bills with the safety of both motorist and pedestrian as the paramount consideration are expected to be appended to a general safety measure.

And the appaling number of deaths and injuries in Pennsylvania annually, both in the city and on the highways is cause enough for the consideration by the lawmakers of the State.

Just what strength, the anticipated move of the cities to get back part of the motor license fees for use on their streets, can muster, will determine the ferocity or mildness of the fight.

The measure has already drawn the fire of Paul D. Wright, highway commissioner, who contends that while one half of the roads in Pennsylvania at the present time are nothing but dirt, there is no logical argument for distribution of this money back to the cities.

Boroughs, under a former bill, are given State aid for those streets which form part of the State Highway system.

Wilbur Allows Gobs All The "Sody" Water They Want; Daniels Denied It

Washington, D. C. Dec. 10th.—The recent official order by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur removing the ban which former Secretary Daniels had placed on the sale of bottled carbonated beverages aboard Uncle Sam's warcraft, has caused much discussion as to the reasons for both acts. No official explanation was made public with either order, except that it was announced at Navy Headquarters here that Secretary Wilbur had been assured by federal experts that the bubbly beverages are healthful and wholesome. Some, however, profess to see a connection between the restoration of the fizzy drinks to the dietary of our sea warriors and the recent announcement that many physicians are prescribing bottled carbonated beverages as a preventive of seasickness, or as an antidote.

Physicians who are prescribing bottled carbonated beverages for those to whom a sea journey heretofore has been as a prolongation of the proverbial "morning after" give credit for their efficacy as a remedy to the carbonic gas they contain. They point out that carbonic gas—the gas that makes these bubbly beverages bubble—acts a a mild irritant on the mucous membrane and that irritation anywhere along the alimentary canal tends to drive food away from that section of it. Carbonated beverages the gas in which acts as a counter-irritant at the upper end of the alimentary tract they say therefore are very effective for the treatment of one of the most embarrassing results of seasickness.

It is interesting in this connection to recall that Joseph Priestly, the great English scientist, whose experiments in impregnating water with "fixed air", way back in 1772, gave Townsend Speatkman, a Philadelphia druggist, the idea which resulted in 1807, in his becoming the founder of the carbonated beverage industry, had as his motive the protection of the health of "sailors and others who go on long sea journeys" by keeping their drinking water pure and wholesome.

Modern scientists, notably by tests recently made at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, Pa., have proven that Priestly's theory was correct. They discovered that carbonic gas at the pressure used by modern bottling plants not only prevents the growth of disease germs in bottled beverages but also would destroy any that might be present before carbonation.

So, as in Priestly's day no uptodate traveler would embark on a voyage without a plentiful supply of this primitive "soda-water," today the careful sea-traveler sees to it that he is well fortified with bottled carbonated beverages. And while it may not have been Secretary Wilbur's motive to furnish such protection for his doughty "gobs" and "leathernecks," it's kind of nice to think it was, for even the oldest, saltiest tars occasionally feel the effects of Father Neptunes pranks as they could—but won't—ell you.

The popular breakfast menu these days is "sausage and cakes." This takes the place of the cereal and milk you ordinarily ate.

Your body gets the heavier nutriment of the pork and buckwheat flour but the combination of these foods lacks some of the vitamines that you did get in the milk.

So we suggest that, during the day, you arrange to drink one or more glasses of milk. Drink it by itself or drink it with your meals.

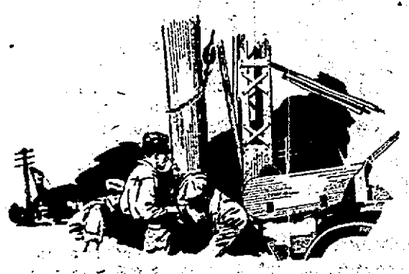
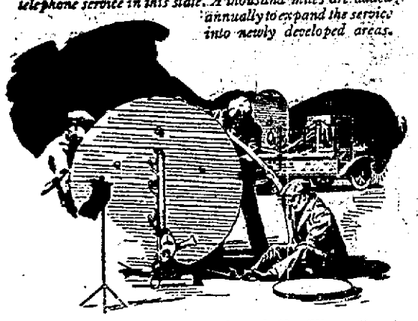
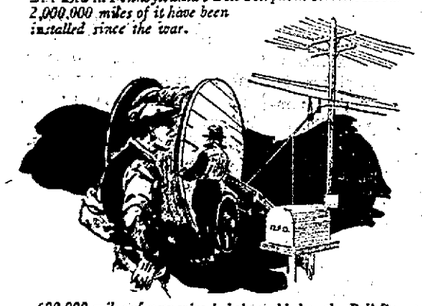
A Catch-up Year



Fifteen thousand miles of Bell pole lines are used for telephone service in this state. A thousand miles are added annually to expand the service into newly developed areas.



Today there is nearly three and one half million miles of wire used in Pennsylvania's Bell Telephone service. About 2,000,000 miles of it have been installed since the war.



600,000 miles of new wire is being added to the Bell System in Pennsylvania this year, some underground, some aerial and most of it in cables.

AS has been said before, the war-time demand for telephone service, particularly in the cities of size, came very close to swamping this company. It failed to, but it came close!

In less than a year our reserves of plant were exhausted, and it became a scramble to keep pace with a rush demand that seemed endless. It was an unfavorable time for expansion, but it had to be done.

1924 has been a catch-up year, and fine progress has been made.

December 31 will see 61,500 more telephones in service than at the beginning of the year; wire mileage will have increased from 2,800,000 to 3,400,000 miles, and switchboard positions from 4,600 to 6,000.

The year will have seen 13 new buildings and 10 major building additions completed. 6 new and additional structures will have progressed toward the completion point, and 2 more will have been started.

We have one foot out of the woods, and the rest seems to be a certainty for 1925. There are a few points where facilities are "tight"—where major construction has not yet progressed to the stage where all of the varied demand can be met.

But it has been a very satisfactory year in this respect, to us and to our patrons.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson of Boston, in his annual recommendations to the legislature of his state, made public last Thursday, asked a law prohibiting the advertising of firearms for sale in newspapers and magazines, "to curb the increased killings and murderous assaults by persons using revolvers and pistols."

"The need for immediate legislation to remedy the present evils arising from the almost indiscriminate selling and promiscuous buying of firearms is apparent," the commissioner wrote.

"Since my recommendations of last year for legislation on this subject the increase in homicides and assaults with dangerous weapons has been alarming.

"In this department alone since November 30, 1923, one officer was murdered and five others murderously assaulted, and even while these recommendations are being written two officers are lying at the point of death from pistol wounds received at the hands of a criminal escaping after holding up with a revolver and brutally assaulting the proprietor of a store.

"If the sale of newspapers, magazines and periodicals which contain certain advertisements of firearms was made a criminal offense, much of the firearms business now being done by mail order houses outside the state would be eliminated."

A great many Pennsylvanians are becoming impatient over the continual recurrence in print of the name of General Smedly D. Butler, head of Philadelphia's police department. They realize that he has done good work, but are satiated with the news about his uncertain tenure, the perplexities of his position, the quarrels and the reconciliations between him and Mayor Kendrick and the various other matters, many of them very unimportant, which have kept this man before the public. They are willing to give him ample credit for all the good things he has done during his incumbency of the office of superintendent of public safety in Philadelphia, but they are hoping he will be permitted to work hereafter with less public commotion.

Three more national advertisers have endorsed the stand taken by the National Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising to Commercial Districts. They are Cluett, Peabody & Co., collar manufacturers of Troy, N. Y., the International Harvester Co of Chicago, and the Nash Motors Co., of Kenosha, Wis.

The International Harvester Co. writes:

"We are fully in sympathy with this work, and have endeavored to handle our outdoor advertising display so as to conform to the ideas expressed in your letter. We assure you that we will be very glad indeed to cooperate with you in bringing about the desired results."

The Nash Motors Co. writes:

"We are in favor of the movement for preventing the defacement of scenes and civic beauty with advertising material, and the policy of the Nash Motors Co. is to employ outdoor advertising in commercial districts only. Insofar as is practical we intend to cooperate fully with the aims of the National Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising."

AMERICAN-JAPANESE "DISASTER"

Cyrus E. Woods, former American ambassador to Japan, serious, and is to be taken seriously, when he says:

"The Japanese exclusion act was an international disaster of the first magnitude, a disaster to religion and to effective work of our American churches in Japan."

Warnings of such a result, made by the Japanese ambassador at Washington, when the legislation was pending, were garded as "threats", made improperly to coerce Congress, and sented accordingly. The sequel suggests that possibly the apanese diplomat was expressing his honest judgment. At any te. American-Japanese relations have been drifting from bad worse ever since Congress, disregarding the advice of the esident and Secretary of State, swept away the "gentlemen's greement" that had prevailed for many years. By that agreeent Japan assumed the responsibility of keeping her coolies home. Congress substituted for it an express barrier against e Japanese.

It was a natural thing for Congress to do in the circumnces, but events are leading many senators and representaes to suspect that they made a grave mistake.

Mr. Woods declares that "the ultimate consequences" of is action cannot yet be fully foreseen, and that "what we do fail to do during the coming year will determine the degree disaster." He thinks it is still possible to "wipe out the harm" wise action.

ROAD ECONOMY

The comfort of good hard roads over which to travel is vious to every motorist. The economy of the hard surface is t always so manifest, but a report issued by the United States reau of public roads states that it costs at least one cent r ton mile more to operate a car over an unimproved road an it does over an improved one. A recent experiment proved at it cost 24 touring cars traveling 98,000 miles over bad roads ual as it cost 36 cars to travel 171,000 miles over improved ads.

This takes no account of the advantages gained by the eater speed of transportation, the elimination of time wasted slower progress. Undoubtedly such factors, as well as those f repairs and depreciation, would increase the one cent per n mile to a much greater figure.

The economic moral of this tale is: Hard Roads.

But there is a catch in it. Not every hard road is economic-l. The road built on insufficient foundation or improperly ained is a very expensive proposition. Before it is paid for is worn out. The one sure thing is that the traffic of the future ill be heavier than anything the present can anticipate. Sound ad financing builds a deep road, a heavy road, a hard road, wide road, a dry road and a smooth road.

WHY HE'S SO POPULAR

By FLORENCE DAVIES

They keep on saying that the Prince of Wales doesn't make clever talk, and they insist that he isn't overly brilliant, and still, his popularity grows.

Everybody likes him. Is it his smile, or is it the romance which attaches to princes?

It can't be only that, for other princes have smiles and smile in vain at a world which insists that it is very much bored with royalty.

No, it's something else. Perhaps, by the way, the prince, in spite of his so-called rather bromidic conversation, is thinking a bit harder than you imagine. At least, he thinks hard enough to say the right thing at the right time, to the right person.

That's the essence of tact, and tact, you'll find, is the foundation stone of popularity.

"How much do you weigh?" was the question that the prince shot at a sturdy young soldier in a British seaman's club.

That isn't a very brilliant bit of wit, now is it?

But it was just the right thing to say to that awkward, gangling lad, who wouldn't have known what to reply if the prince had asked him if he read Conrad's sea stories.

"How much do you weigh?" The chap knew how to answer that, and anyone with half an eye could see that it would be something the lad would be proud to tell.

Now anyone who thinks it bromidic to know just when and how to put that kind of a question to a young seaman ought to watch a committee of society ladies at a working girls' club. The laugh would not be on the prince and his friendly question and his princely rejoinder, "That's good."

What's the secret of it? Not Bernard Shaw wit, or Chesterton cleverness, or even Will Rogers drollery. No, the Prince couldn't double for any of these brilliant folks. But he can and does put himself momentarily in the place of the person he addresses. He thinks of the things that would interest them.

Conversation is never hard when you try to make it by that rule. And the Prince who is used to having a dozen secretaries and lackies put him and his wishes first, knows enough to ask the chap in the navy about the thing he is proudest to tell.

Perhaps, after all, the Prinse isn't quite as naive as his china blue eyes and boy-like smile would lead one to believe.

McCANN GETS ONE NOTCH NEARER THE DUNDEE TITLE

St. Petersburg, Fla., December 10. (INS.)—Followers of Johnny Dundee came to the realization today that the famous fighter's "dope" went wrong when Artie McCann, Philadelphia featherweight, won by a technical knockout here last night over Frankie Nancy of Miami, whom Dundee had named as the logical contender for the title he vacated by retiring.

The Adventure of Work.

We are in grave danger in these days of dividing life into two unrelated portions, and the true notion of play as something that is sentially creative and life-renewing in the fullest sense is being forgotten. The best work must ever have in it the spirit of play; that is, the spirit of adventure. Great work, as another writer has said, is play itself.—C. Argus.

Curwensville's Own Column

Joseph Foster, a resident of Olanta aged 72 years, 7 months and 26 days died on Sunday evening after a short illness. He was an Englishman by birth and came to this country when quite a young man, following the occupation of that of a miner. His funeral was held this afternoon, the body being in charge of Funeral Director Doyerspike. Interment in Thompson cemtery.

It was reported here yesterday that Earl Richards was one of the more fortunate hunters on the mountains this week, he having succeeded in slaughtering a fine young elk. He never hunted much before, but now he will contract the fever which will never leave him when the season rolls around again.

There is on display in the front window of the National bank building a lot of Indian arrow heads, found on the farm occupied by Jesse Garrison, near hogback. They are all of hard flint and of many designs and shapes, showing considerable skill in their manufacture. The board on which they are mounted displays them to an advantage.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dornan were called to Middletown last Sunday on receipt of word announcing the death of Mrs. Dornan's uncle John Stetler. The funeral was held on Monday, Mr. Dornan returning to Curwensville the same evening. Mrs Dornan remained over for a few days longer.

Miss Maud Elder spent Sunday and Monday in Altoona visiting Robert Derrick who is a patient in one of the hospitals.

Rev. Conley is reported on the sick list suffering from a severe cold and throat trouble. Postmaster Crownover is also laid up with a heavy cold.

C. S. Russell has been confined to his home this week suffering form a severe cold and several other minor complications.

Last evening was the sixth marriage anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fullerton, north Pine street, and in consequence thereof a family supper was the result. He was one of the fortunate ones in killing his first deer, although he has been out several seasons.

There is a great deal of sickness in Curwensville at the present time, principally people suffering from bad colds and slight grip attacks. The many sudden changes of weather is attributed as the cause. Several slight pneumonia cases have been docuted but none have arrived at a serious stage as yet.

Paul Rankin and wife, Indiana county, were Curwensville visitors yesterday.

Henry Heitzenrather is removing his family from Bridgeport to rooms above his State street pool room, lately occupied by Mrs. Harvey.

BOY, 16, SHOOTS SWEETHEART, SAME AGE

Camden, N. J. Dec. 10 (INS.)—Stanley G. Mathis, 16, a school boy, confessed this afternoon that he had murdered his class mate sweetheart, Betsy Ross, 16, because they quarrelled when she rebuked him for treasuring six lewd pictures, Prosecutor Westcott announced this afternoon. He shot her with a revolver he carried for protection, Westcott said the boy confessed.

UNFILLED STEEL TONNAGE ON THE INCREASE

New York, Dec. 10. (INS.)—Unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel Corporation increased 506,699 tons between October 31 and November 30, according to the monthly report of the corporation today.

DANCING $1.00 COUPLE

MRS. SWEETIN AND HIGHT NO LONGER LOVE ONE ANOTHER

By SONIA LEE
I. N. S. Special Correspondent

Mount Vernon, Ill, Dec. 10.—Love and life no longer go hand in hand as far as they concern Elsie Sweetin and Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, her pastor-over on trial here for the murder of Elsie's husband, Wilford.

Civil war is in the ranks of the defendants and it is freely predicted that Attorney R. E. Smith, Mrs. Sweetin's counsel, will not for a moment hesitate to sacrifice Hight to the interests of his client, Hight, on the other hand, if things should go against him, he has his insantiy plea to fall back upon.

The first witness today will be Dr. W. B. McNally, Chicago toxicologist who analyzed the vital organs of Sweetin. He started his testimony late yesterday but was interrupted by adjournment after he had given preliminary testimony identifying the jar "exhibit A." containing the organs and relating the method of analysis by which he found arsenic in them.

Other medical men, mainly corroborative witnesses will follow him on the stand and it is expected the "expert" testimony will occupy another full day at least, for it is upon the establishment of the presence of arsenic in Sweetin's body that the State's case in a large part, rests.

The crowd, which has been packing the little courtroom daily, gathered early today—farmers and their wives with bulk lunches, members of philosophers who gather in little groups about the court room and discuss the case with wags of their heads. And in the crowd are at least a few people who believe Elsie innocent.

These include her mother, Mrs. Laura Lemke who has a mother's abiding faith.

"No she couldn't have done it," she said and that settles it for her. No voice of doctor or jury will ever alter her conviction. Her daughter is not a murderess and for this reason her absolution from the charges is only a matter of time. This is the feeling of mother love.

Smelling Salts.

Smelling salts can be made by placing a few lumps of ammonium carbonate in a bottle and covering them with oil of lavender. The cost, according to Experimental Science, is very slight, and the product is as good as some of the product now on sale.

CHALLENGED TO A DUEL

Jacob Kantar again called at The Progress office this morning to discuss important matters in connection with the controversy had yesterday. At the conclusion of an impassioned speech Jake drew a wicked canvas glove from a side pocket, swiped us on the cheek in approved medevial fashion and proffered his card. So the fight is on. It will make a nasty scrap. Jake stands for special privileges to none but Jake; an unpopular position, but he is politician enough to champion the cause of the ladies and thus he hopes to win public favor on his side. The money involved is only $14 but eventually the whold world may shake and tremble over this small sum. Jake left today for Bradford to look after business interests there. It is to be hoped that he brings back a little oil to throw on troubled waters.

Common Sense—Plus!

There's a quality in people that for want of a better name will have to be called "uncommon sense".

It's that little something extra that makes a person appreciate the opportunities to save money and gain satisfaction that fill the Progress Classified columns every day.

Not that common sense isn't all right—in its way. It tells you to make your money go as far as it can and bring you as much as possible in return.

But it's the people with uncommon sense who are getting what they want and saving their money through the opportunities offered in the Progress classified columns every day.

There's profit and satisfaction there for you today—tomorrow—every day that you read the Classified ads!

Tom Sims Says

True sportsmen will not kill more than the law's allowance of game and the others will not either.

Of course the meanest man is the one who told his children Santa died. Next meanest is the one buying only educational toys.

These mah jongg sets look almost as old-fashioned as dominoes or checkers.

We like bridge better than crossword puzzles, because you can switch bridge into a poker game.

Playing bridge and working Bridget, that's the modern debutante's idea of married life.

And the crossword puzzles are not as interesting as the old reliable cross-the-street puzzles.

What means happiness in four letters? Some say cash, some work, some play. We say you must have all.

What will you give father? Get him some asbestos gloves to be used in opening Christmas bills.

Portland cow eats soup. Guess maybe perhaps she gives clean milk.

These debutantes giving coming-out parties now will be giving worn-out parties before spring.

Climbers of the social ladder amuse us. Somebody up above is always kicking mud in their faces.

TROTSKY NOW VERY ILL

Moscow, Dec. 10. (INS.)—Leon Trotsky, Soviet commissar for war, is seriously ill.

Trotsky has been the target of attacks from many angles recently, reported to have for their purpose his ejection from the political bureau, or autocratic body controlling the Red government. He has made no answer to his critics.

Day Is What One Makes It.

Every day that is born into the world comes like a burst of music and rings itself all the day through; and thou shalt make of it a dance, a dirge, or a life march as thou wilt.—Thomas Carlyle.

Plumber Thought He Needed New Pipes

"My stomach and intestines were always full of gas and I often had severe colic attacks. The pain and soreness caused me to think I needed a new set of pipes. Since taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy all this has disappeared and my only trouble now is making enough dough to buy all the food I'd like to eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

WHY WOOMEN CRY!

"Have you ever noticed how women love to cry in the theatre?" asked Mary Moore, who plays the part of Marguerite in the Porter J. White and Edward Elsner production of "Faust" which comes to the Driggs Theatre for one performance only, Friday, December 12th.

"I remember when I was a child wondering why ladies cried when my mother took me to a matinee to see "East Lynne." I know now it was because they enjoyed not only the play but crying itself. Just as musical comedies are written for the "tired business man," so the emotional drama is produced for women. Eve was the original 'sob sister' and every sort and condition of 'she' has followed in her wake. One never sees men sit for three hours in a theatre, sniffling until their noses are red and their heads ache, and declaring that they had enjoyed themselves. Women do it because men are built for the rougher things of life, women for the finer. Things that affect birth and death and all the emotion in between are woman's special province. No play ever written has such a strong emotional appeal as Faust, and that is one of the secrets of its long-enduring popularity. Marguerite sins and suffers for her folly, and her punishment and final redemption finds an answering sympathetic chord in the heart of every woman who sees and hears her story.

That Part Easily Arranged.

"Where would you go if the landlord doubled the rent?" asks an advertiser. "We can't say offhand, but we do know where the landlord could go!"—Buffalo Express.

"TY" COBB NEAR RETIREMENT

New York, Dec. 9, (INS.)—Ty Cobb will play one more season, after which he will cease to be an active athlete, and devote his time to directing the Tigers from the bench, Cobb declared today.

"I expect to have a good enough outfield next year so that I will not be obliged to play very much myself," said Ty Cobb today.

"I am sure I will not play in 100 games. Most of my playing will be in the early part of the season. As soon as my other outfielders get into their stride I shall take myself out. In the following year I will play still less, if at all, but I will in no sense be a regular."

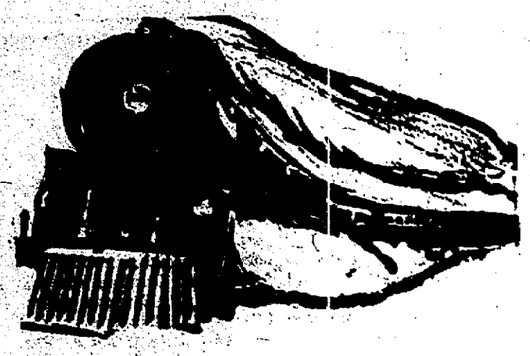
The Most Important Event of Winter Has Arrived



"The Boys" Start Selling Better Suits & Overcoats at Sharp Reductions

Winter Suits and Overcoats are bought during the early summer. We have to guess at the weather for the coming winter. This year we guessed wrong. The weather during the time we would customarily be selling Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats was as mild and summer-like as early September. You can realize what that means to the tremendous stocks we had bought for you. They remained on the racks. It is against our business policy to carry Winter Overcoats over to the next season. They must be sold. And we planned to let you have the benefit of the weather slip-up at a time when you may take advantage of the sharp reductions we are making. Everything we offer will make acceptable Christmas gifts. Take advantage of the reductions to give more and better men's and boys' gifts than you ever have done before.

FULL OF SOUL INSPIRING MUSIC

An unusual feature of the Porter White and Edward Elsner production of Faust is the musical setting which embellishes the play. Faust is widely known, not only because of its years of successful presentation in dramatic form, but also on account of its fame as one of most popular of the grand operas. The production, which will be seen at the Driggs Theatre for one performance only, Friday, December 12th, offers the most appealing portions of both forms of high class entertainment. The drama is staged with an excellent cast and with a wealth of scenic and electrical effects that charm the sense of the beautiful in stage pictures and, running through the action of the play, is the soul-inspiring music written by Gounod, Meyerbeer, Boito and others of the world's master composers. This combination of music and drama cannot fail to meet with the enthusiastic approval of all to whom the best in art has an appeal and the presentation may be regarded as the event of the local season.

Controlling Dreams.

There does not seem to be much doubt among mental specialists that dreams can be controlled to a certain extent. Don't have "downy" pillows, which cause too much heat. Back Lame and Achy?

The Advice of This Clearfield Resident Should Help You to Get Well.

Do you suffer nagging backache? Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed? Are the kidney secretions irregular; breaking your rest?

Likely your kidneys are at fault. Weak kidneys give warning. You have backache; rheumatic twinges. You feel weak, tired, all worn-out. Heed the warning. Don't delay! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Here is a Clearfield case.

Jas. R. Schnars, carpenter, R. F. D. No. 5, says: "I caught cold in my kidneys and a heavy ache in my back caused lots of trouble. When I stooped, a sharp kink caught me and it was hard to straighten. Sometimes my back was lame and stiff in the morning. My kidneys acted too frequently and I had to get up nights. Doan's Pills from Woodward & McPherson's Drug Store cured the backache and I haven't been troubled since."

How Chrysler Sweeps All Tradition Aside

No one need fear that he will not be rewarded who gives to the world something distinctively superior to that which has preceded it. And nowhere is recognition so swift and rewarding as unificent as in America. Chrysler Six came to a seemingly crowded motor car market and almost immediately swept its way into unprecedented acceptance as a quality product. That which ordinarily takes years to achieve was won almost over-night. Why? Because the Chrysler brushed aside outworn traditions in engineering, in design, and in performance, and gave to the world advantages it could instantly see and feel and experience. It squarely confronted problems of height and weight and size, solving them according to the crying needs of the moment rather than the needs of five years ago. It brought to bear both scientific exactness and artistry—endeavoring to embody in the new car elements of grace and elegance no one else had attained. That is why the Chrysler has taken the country by storm—why it still stands and will long stand alone—why if you want what the Chrysler gives, the Chrysler alone can satisfy you.

The Way of Women.

When the once-wealthy Mrs. Blank parted from her husband and decided to work for her living, she became a housemaid. Her first employer was a woman who, in other days, had been one of her own servants. It seemed a queer thing to do, but "the wretch always worried me by giving me notice," said the lady in reduced circumstances viciously; "she must have done it a half a dozen times. So I took the position—to give her notice, the wretch! And I did it, too, after the first week."—Bulletin (Sydney).

The Origin of a Word.

Answered.

For reasons of economy a certain dowager had to part with her butler, relates an English exchange. She gave him a cordial reference to a prospective employer. A few days later she was annoyed to get a catechism of questions from this lady "Was he courteous, gentlemanly, honest, and of distinguished appearance?" To which she replied: "The Dowager Lady Blank wishes to say that if her butler owned half the virtues enumerated she would have married him herself years ago."
